

700 MHz Band Rebate Program

for Wireless Systems

This program is open to all users of wireless microphone systems including rental houses and sound reinforcement companies.

On June 12, 2009 all full power analog TV transmission is scheduled to cease. Digital TV broadcasts will be consolidated below channels 52. Channels 52-69 (698 – 806 MHz), generically called the 700 MHz band, will be reallocated to public emergency broadcast and telecom companies. We anticipate the FCC will prohibit the use of wireless microphones in this range in the near future.

Foreseeing these changes, we have been guiding customers to equipment operating on alternate frequencies for the past two years. Furthermore, at the beginning of 2008 we re-classified equipment operating on frequencies between 698 MHz and 806 MHz, such as Evolution Wireless C range, as special order items.

Compared to other offers in the market this program is aimed at helping end-users, sound reinforcement and rental companies to switch to new Sennheiser systems in a range below 698 MHz in the most economical fashion.

Program details:

- Rebates are offered for purchases made between December 1, 2008 and December 1, 2009 on new Sennheiser wireless systems, additional transmitters or receivers.
- To receive a rebate, an equal number of old wireless systems, additional transmitters or receivers that operated in the range 698 MHz to 806 MHz must be traded in (we will accept non-Sennheiser brands as well).
- Single components (transmitters or receivers) are rebated at half the system rebate value as outlined below.
- To be even more equitable to customers who purchased our systems within the recent years we are offering a tiered rebate. Please refer to the option list on the next page for details.
