Perfect Presentation! The display stand is ideally suited for small string instruments, such as violins and ukuleles. The compact design of the stand places the instrument front and center- this is the best possible way to put the focus on your instrument. Be it at a music store, at an exhibition or at home, your instrument is always the center of attention on this attractive display stand. The body of the instrument rests on rubberized support arms ensuring that the instrument finish is protected. A solid four point support system and three cross struts ensure solid and stable footing. For storage and transport the extremely light stand folds to a small compact size.
